2016 ENDORSEMENTS

HILLARY CLINTON

As a Veteran who operates as a small business owner, I consider Hillary Clinton to be the candidate who will be ready on day one to tackle the tough issues, world problems, and domestic challenges that face us today. She has had on-the-job training, a front row seat watching the greatest thinkers of our time tackle problems, and stands ready with solutions and not rhetoric.

ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

I stand with the fierce advocate & fighter for freedom, equality, and justice. Washington, DC has no greater advocate than that of Eleanor Holmes Norton, and I'm proud to throw my full support behind her.

DAVID GROSSO

David Grosso is a man of his word. His response time, and the response time of his team, is second to none. You can believe that he will be consistent, use common sense, and offer solutions not weighed down by 20th Century politics, but enlivened with 21st Century approaches keeping the next generation in mind.

YVETTE ALEXANDER

I have watched Yvette Alexander make hard decisions, stand her ground, and fight for her Ward and this city. She has been a fierce advocate for women, and I can think of no one greater to continue the work she has started in speaking up for the marginalized. She has my full support.

ROBERT WHITE

Robert White looks at the problems facing DC and does not offer commentary on how they came to be, but offers solutions on how to move us forward. I trust his passion, sincerity, and his experience garnered from working with community & political activists.
